

Renaissance Asset Finance: the New Lender to the Broker Market

Sponsored by

On the 30th June 2015, Renaissance Asset Finance ("RAF") completed its first financial year. Hugh Sigrist (pictured), founder of RAF, commented that he was delighted with how well it had all gone and he couldn't have expected anything to go any better. "Some people had questioned how successful this 'second' lending business of mine would be, as when my old company RFC was bought by Close Brothers in 2008 there were very few lenders out there and little competition. So in theory, the environment was a lot easier to grow a substantial book. That said, I knew our model was distinctly different from many of the new entrants to the market. The numbers have proven that beyond any doubt and we have lent more money in the first 12-months than we expected to in the first three years.

This is what our brokers say:

Ben Waine, Premier Velocity: "Thank you and your team for the superb service you have provided me with over the past 6 or so months. Things that have been in your team's control have been handled very professionally and efficiently, very refreshing in the modern world of finance.

Please do keep up the good work!"

Sean Connor, Future Finance & Leasing Ltd: "I have been dealing with Renaissance Asset Finance for the past year and have found Hugh and the team to be a finance company you can always

We have lent more money in 12 months than we expected to in three years talk to and get the personal touch from, which I feel a lot of finance companies have now lost. Nothing is too much trouble. I feel I have a close working relationship with RAF. They always go that extra yard to get a deal done for you. The staff are always very polite and are always there to assist with urgent underwriting and pay-outs. Keep up the good work." BW
